Below you can view a video showcasing some of the features available in the new FIFA video game engine as well as gameplay of the new game modes for FIFA, and be the first to see the animation for the new player movement system and player models. This is another step in our journey as a company to revolutionise football by bringing the joy of football back to our players around the world. Thank you for your ongoing support. "We are extremely excited to announce FIFA 22, the game that brings back the joy of football to millions of fans globally," said the game's executive producer, Matt Prior. "We are using the same cutting edge technology as an NBA 2K team to design an innovative, authentic and responsive gaming experience." In FIFA, players will be able to feel the impact of challenges and the impact of making or missing out on opportunities to score. It will be possible to experience the same intensity, unpredictability and wide-ranging tactical options as real-life football matches. "This game is the best example of storytelling at its finest," said Jonathan Morper, Global Brand Director, Electronic Arts. "We are so proud of the improvements to our FIFA gameplay engine that we are sharing early access with the football community, giving you a sneak peak into what is next for our games and how they will play." The FIFA engine has been upgraded to support the high-intensity gameplay of FIFA 22 and provide players with improved responsiveness and fluidity, with the power of Frostbite. The technology and visuals available in this edition of FIFA will allow players to not only feel the difference but also see it in their hands. The FIFA grid remains the most iconic feature of the series, presenting information without compromising the fantasy of the game. In addition to the all-new SimCoach Mode, FIFA 22 introduces four new modes that will complement the game's extensive Play First Pass Online experience. The versatile Live Draft lets players create and manage their own fantasy teams. With the League Creator, players can design their own custom leagues, teams and events. PES 2016-inspired innovative mode, FUT Draft, will expand on FUT Draft by letting players draft and manage their players in matches that take place over the course of a season. Finally, EA Sports is bringing back the Global Game Index rankings system to FIFA. This is a post written by /u/Cabral_Falcon Reply · Report PostRecently, advances in optical techniques have
